Answer Key

Chapter 9

Section 3

Reteaching Activity

A. Drawing Conclusions

Conclusion: The strength of labor unions has been seriously weakened. Fact: Right-to-work laws favor businesses rather than unions. Fact: Unions are less likely to press for higher wages, as pay cuts and loss of benefits have become more common. Fact: Unions strike less often for fear that employers will replace workers or close plants.

B. Clarifying

1. collective bargaining
2. union shop
3. industrial union
4. closed shop
5. craft union

Copyright by McDougal Littell, a division of Houghton Mifflin Company