Written Assessment – Chapter 14

Pages 488

Understanding Concepts

1. Student answers will vary, but must give an example of a home heating system and must describe the transfer of energy to warm a home.
2. While the air is cooled when the air conditioner condenses the gas, the energy released then transfers to the air conditioner which heats up as a result.