CHAPTER TEST FORM B

1. The colonists were not prepared for life in Jamestown. Many were adventurers who lacked useful experience and skills such as farming and carpentry. For this reason, they did not have enough food or decent housing. They also got sick from disease-carrying mosquitoes that filled the marshes surrounding the settlement.

2. Anne Hutchinson believed that people could have a relationship with God without the help of ministers. This belief posed a threat to the authority of the Church in the community. If people didn't need ministers, they didn't need the Church.

3. Britain wanted to restore order in the colony. Parliament passed the Coercive Acts, which colonists called the Intolerable Acts, to punish Massachusetts. Boston Harbor was closed until the ruined tea was paid for. The colony's charter was canceled and the governor had to approve any meetings of the legislature. Royal officials accused of crimes in the colony were sent home to Britain, where they faced trial by a friendlier judge and jury. And the Crown appointed the colony's new governor.

4. Pontiac opposed British settlement west of the Appalachians.

5. William Penn started a colony west of New Jersey to provide a safe home for Quakers.

6. A British soldier hit a colonist during an argument.

7. The population of slaves in the colonies grew to be about seven or eight times larger in 1750 than in 1700.
